

Rebel Leader Seizes 2 Algerian Cities

PROBERS' REPORT:

Hoffa Accused Of Continuing Criminal Ties

By G. MILTON KELLY Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 25.—A Senate rackets-investigating subcommittee accused James R. Hoffa, Teamsters' Union president, today of corrupt and continuing ties with the New York mobster, Antonio (Tony Ducks) Corallo.

The stinging report to the Senate showed Hoffa as a labor leader who doesn't care whether Teamster aides rob and cheat the union or indulge in under-the-table payoff deals.

Chairman McClellan, Democrat, Arkansas, told the Senate he had held up filing the report for more than half a year, lest the publicity interfere with the trial in which Corallo was convicted June 16. At that time Corallo was convicted with a former New York Supreme Court Justice, J. Vincent Keough, and Elliott Kahaner, former chief United States attorney in Brooklyn, on charges of conspiring to fix a Federal Court criminal case.

THE SUBCOMMITTEE'S UNANIMOUS FINDINGS rejected Hoffa's sworn denial that he had sent this word to Corallo, labeled the real power in New York Teamsters Local 239.

"I don't care if you want to—you want to steal, you want to rob, go ahead. . . Don't get caught; don't get caught."

New York police telephone-tappers said they recorded this message as passed along to Corallo by Bernard Stein, another New York Hoffa aide who had just conferred in Washington with Hoffa.

"This subcommittee," the report to the Senate said, "by force of the overwhelming evidence, must conclude that Hoffa in callous disregard of the welfare of the Teamster membership, in fact does not care whether officials of Local 239 or, for that matter, officials of any other segment of the Teamsters' Union, are robbing, stealing, dealing under the table, or indulging in any other improper or criminal activities."

McClellan said the evidence shows Corallo has bossed at least five Teamsters' locals in New York with Hoffa's connivance.

"AS MIGHT BE EXPECTED," the senator said, "the common denominator to all of those locals was corruption." In 40 printed pages the subcommittee spelled out findings based on hearings it conducted in January, 1961.

The subcommittee charged that the 1961 hearings showed Corallo, after ostensibly resigning as vice president and ruling boss of Local 239, ran it from behind the scenes through dummy officials who did no work and who turned over to Corallo their pay checks totaling $31,000 a year.

Hoffa was well aware of this, the subcommittee said. Its probe, the subcommittee said, thwarted a scheme between Hoffa and Corallo to restore to the presidency of Local 239 a convicted extortionist and bribe-taker, Samuel Goldstein.

THE SUBCOMMITTEE ACCUSED HOFFA of having fought efforts by a now-disbanded Federal Court board of monitors to houseclean his union. It pointed to:

Hoffa's testimony defending his appointment of Frank Matula as an International Teamsters' Union trustee (auditor) after Matula's 1959 conviction on perjury charges, and the fact that Matula was left in this paid job while serving his prison sentence.

The case of Anthony (Tony Pro) Provenzano, president of Teamsters' Local 560 in Hoboken, N. J., promoted by Hoffa to the post of international vice president of the union in 1959 and kept in the post after being indicted in 1960 on federal labor-racketeering charges.

Hoffa's refusal to oust Joseph Gimco as president of Chicago Taxicab Local 777. (Rebelling members of the union voted Gimco out of the post last year.)

Hoffa's decision allowing D. Harold Gross to resign under honorable conditions as an official of New York Local 138 after conviction on income tax-law-violation charges, but taking no action on prior charges that Gross had been shaking down employers.

The case of Raymond Cohen, secretary-treasurer of Philadelphia Local 107 and an international trustee, as "the classic example of the extremes to which Hoffa will go . . . to 'acquit' officers concerning whom there was readily available evidence of forgeries, misappropriation of union funds, and other improper activities."

Failure to oust William Presser as president of Cleveland Local 555 and head of the Ohio Conference of Teamsters after Presser was convicted in 1960 of contempt of Congress and obstruction of justice.

The Seattle Daily Times

Fair Attendance: Yesterday—58,278; Total—4,697,287

Telephone MAin 2-0300

Published Daily and Sunday and Entered as Second Class Matter at Seattle, Washington, Vol. 85, No. 206

64 PAGES

SEATTLE, WASHINGTON, WEDNESDAY, JULY 25, 1962.

Price 10c

Civil War Reported Likely to Break Out

ALGIERS, July 25.—(A.P.)—Dissident Deputy Premier Ahmed ben Bella asserted his claim to power today and two ministers of the tottering provisional government vowed a fight to the death.

The threat of civil war in this new Moslem nation came as the militant Ben Bella forces seized the eastern cities of Bone and Constantine and moved into control of about three quarters of the nation. He himself moved out of his stronghold in the West toward this capital.

Vice Premier Belacem Krim and Minister Mohammed Boudiaf of Premier Youssef ben Khedda's moderate regime spoke to newsmen from their barricaded headquarters in the Kabylie Mountains town of Tizi Ouzou, about 65 miles east of Algiers.

They vowed to fight the Ben Bella forces "to the last drop of our blood," accusing Ben Bella of a coup d'etat.

Krim and Boudiaf called on the Berber population to "mobilize and organize in each town and village to form a common front."

UNOFFICIAL reports reaching Algiers said Ben Bella's forces invaded the port of Bone from the sea and took it over. These accounts said other Ben Bella troops from the Aures Mountains took Constantine, Algeria's largest inland city.

Ben Khedda's government virtually ceased to function in Algiers.

The capital was under control of 4,000 Moslem auxiliary policemen, led by Police Prefect Amar Mohammedi.

Many Europeans headed for air-line and shipping-company offices, once again giving up hope of peaceful existence in the once-thriving French colony.

IN WESTERN and Eastern Algeria, partisans of Ben Bella seized local administration buildings and arrested officials loyal to the Ben Khedda faction.

From Western Algeria, regular troops backing the Ben Bella faction slowly rolled eastward, pulling Czech and Soviet cannon and mortars. They paraded before cheering crowds in the town of Tiarret where Ben Bella and his followers arrived.

In Algiers, kidnappings of Europeans and thefts multiplied without any efficient action by the police.

Weatherman Has Bad News For Sun-Dodgers

The weatherman had crushing news today for sun-dodgers, rain-lovers and ducks: Seattle faces at least another five days of gorgeous summer weather.

Little or no rain is expected, except some light drizzle along the coast. High temperatures will be mostly in the 70's and 80's.

Tomorrow will be sunny with a high of 82 to 88 degrees. The low tonight will be 50 to 56. Yesterday's high downtown was 86.

Nasser Opens Jet Plant

CAIRO, July 25.—(A.P.)—President Nasser opened a new military-jet-plane factory "somewhere outside Cairo" today, the semi-official Middle East News Agency announced. This followed the test-firing of four Egyptian-built rockets Saturday.

Air Ambulance Crashes

NHATRANG, South Vietnam, July 25.—(A.P.)—A United States air-ambulance helicopter crashed today on a sandy strip 20 miles north of here. None of the seven Americans on board was injured.

Pan American accepts Goldberg's formula for settlement with flight engineers; Eastern still balks. Page 7.

Labor dispute may interfere with visit of nuclear ship Savannah to World's Fair. Page 18.

Dutch army negotiating with Vertol Division for 22 helicopters. Page 2.

U. S., Russia end Berlin talks 'without progress.' Page 7.

Miss Roberts was treated at Harborview County Hospital. Police reported Miss Roberts were picked up by nearby pleasure craft. The boat caught fire about a half mile north of Leschi.

Susanne Roberts, 18, of Union, N. J., suffered a minor leg burn, and two 18-year-old girl companions escaped injury when their 20-foot boat burned and sank in Lake Washington about 1:20 o'clock this afternoon.

Miss Roberts was treated at Harborview County Hospital. Police reported Miss Roberts were picked up by nearby pleasure craft. The boat caught fire about a half mile north of Leschi.

The boat was owned by Miss Brooks' father, Anson Brooks. The Harbor Patrol tried to extinguish the fire, but the boat sank.

BIRTHDAY PARTY:

5-Year-Olds Keep Together at Fair

THESE MOMS KNOW THE ROPES: Two women with nine 5-year-olds on a birthday outing were oblivious of a Times photographer as they hurried across the World's Fair grounds yesterday. All hands were hanging onto a length of rope so as not to become separated. Mrs. Peter Eising, 1700 Howell Place, right, gave the party for her daughter, Robin. The other mother was Mrs. Peter Downey, 3815 S. Court St. They were bound for the Stadium to see Circus Berlin.—Times staff photo by George Carkonen.

FOLLIES TROUPE ARRIVES:

Aqua Dears and Darlings Rehearse

(See Page B for photograph).

By DON DUNCAN

Lynn Burke, Olympic swimming champion, has freckles and doesn't mind.

Virginia Lucas, 19, of Chicago, and Nana Hudo, 21, of Puerto Rico, Aqua Darlings, are studying judo and fencing, respectively.

Jill Owens, 19, of Chicago, an Aqua Darling, is a ringier for Jackie Kennedy.

Bernadette Bonin, 23, of Minneapolis, an Aqua Dear, is in her fifth year as an Aqua Follies performer here—dean of the girl swimmers in Al Sheehan's show.

ALL THESE interesting facts and figures, quite apart from 36-26-36, came to light as the Aqua Follies cast watched workmen haul packing crates full of scenery to the Green Lake Aqua Theater stage today.

A band tooted in the shadow of the big concrete horseshoe, polishing numbers for the opening of the 13th annual Aqua Follies at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow evening.

And into the scene came a swimmer even the blond, dazzling Miss Burke cannot match—a duck.

The girls Oh'd and ah'd as the duck scooted around in the water.

Of such is the morning brightened after a too-brief snooze. The cast arrived by train at 2 o'clock this morning and didn't get bedded down until about 3.

Telling the Aqua Dears, (they swim) from the Aqua Darlings, (they dance), is easy in or out of the water. The Dears wear red jackets and blue skirts. The Darlings wear whatever they wish.

BOTH SETS of performers run long on higher education and even longer on dreams.

Many of the dancers have Hollywood or Broadway gleams in their eyes. And since they average about age 20, they still have hope their kicks and tapping feet will be noticed by "someone out front."

The swimmers, about the same age, can hope for a ticket to far-away places in professional water ballet.

Miss Burke, who has achieved stardom at 19, posed confidently in a gold bathing suit. Two years ago she was mopping up at the Olympic Games.

"I can't dive," Miss Burke said with a laugh. "I mean I can racing dive but not high dive. I watch the experts."

"I can't dance either," Miss Burke added. "But I'm going to renew ballet lessons I took as a girl."

"I GET INFORMAL ballet lessons after the show from the Aqua Darlings."

Miss Burke, of Long Island, N. Y., turned professional soon after her Olympic triumphs. She already had five world's records.

The 1962 Aqua Follies already has a ten-day stand at the Minneapolis Aquatennial under its water wings.

The show will continue through August 15—the longest run since it began here

Two Russian Officers To Visit Here

Two high-ranking Russian military officers from the Russian embassy in Washington, D. C., are scheduled to arrive here about 6 o'clock tomorrow evening for a three-day visit, it was learned today.

They are Lieut. Gen. Vladimir Dubovic, military attache, and Lieut. Col. Vsevolod S. Tovma, assistant military attache.

The purpose of the Russians' visit was not immediately known. The embassy has made no announcement concerning the trip. The Doric 6th Avenue Motor Hotel said reservations for the two Russians were made by Hertz Rent-A-Car service transmitted from the service's Salt Lake office. They may stop at San Francisco on their way here.

Neither the Boeing Co. nor World's Fair officials had any information on any possible visits by the Soviet officers.

Right Kind of Chaser NORTH HAVEN, Conn., July 25.—(U.P.I.)—State Police have erected this sign on the Wilbur Cross Parkway: "Driver who has one for the road has trooper as chaser."

Kennedy to Discuss Easing Test-Ban Terms

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(A.P.)—President Kennedy has scheduled a meeting of top military and diplomatic advisers for Friday to seek a decision on how much the United States can cut back its demands for an inspection provision in a treaty with Russia on banning nuclear tests.

Congressional atomic experts, it was learned, have warned the administration to proceed with extreme caution in offering to reduce inspection requirements.

A subcommittee headed by Senator Humphrey, Democrat, Minnesota, was briefed today by William C. Foster, director of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency. Later Humphrey, rapping talk of reduced inspection demands as premature, said the United States will not give up its insistence on adequate on-site inspection.

The issue has been reopened because of scientific findings which indicate cheating on a test-ban agreement may be more difficult to conceal, even for a closed country like Russia, he n

United States scientists and officials had thought.

The Defense Department announced about two weeks ago that underground nuclear explosions can be detected at a greater distance than had been supposed, and that some types of earth shocks could be identified definitely as earthquakes.

President Kennedy and Secretary of State Rusk have said demanded by the West for the research would not, so far, face a test-ban agreement.

Labor dispute may interfere with visit of nuclear ship Savannah to World's Fair. Page 18.

Dutch army negotiating with Vertol Division for 22 helicopters. Page 2.

U. S., Russia end Berlin talks 'without progress.' Page 7.

HELP PAINFUL:

Tacoma Girl Falls 20 Ft. Into Pool of Hot Tar

TACOMA, July 25.—(A.P.)—Helping Daddy pay for her coming college education proved painful and expensive yesterday afternoon for a Tacoma girl, Mary Ann Reisinger, 18.

Miss Reisinger pitched off a slippery roof and fell 20 feet into a pool of newly poured and still hot tar, suffering a fracture of one hip.

The tar splashed, too, inflicting severe burns on her face, arms, feet and legs. She was in as good condition today as could be expected.

The father, John Reisinger, Tacoma roofing contractor, told police his daughter had offered to help him on a new job and had donned blue jeans and tennis shoes before starting her work yesterday morning.

She was pushing a mop, smothering fresh tar over building paper at the time she missed her footing and plunged over the edge.

You'll Find Inside:

- Amusements Pages 16, 17
Classified Ads, Pgs 52 to 61
Comics Pages 22, 23
Crossword Puzzle Page 54
Dear Abby Page 19
Deaths, Funerals Page 46
Editorials Page 8
Finance Pages 48, 49
Byron Fish Page 42
Goren on Bridge Page 36
Heloise Page 34
Marine Page 18
Dorothy Neighbors Pages 31, 32
Picture Page Page B
Emily Post Page 47
Sports Pages 26 to 30
Tempus Puget Page 2
TV, Radio Page 14
Vital Statistics Page 46
Women's News, Pages 19, 20
Your Baby Page 47

3 Girls Rescued As Boat Burns, Sinks

Susanne Roberts, 18, of Union, N. J., suffered a minor leg burn, and two 18-year-old girl companions escaped injury when their 20-foot boat burned and sank in Lake Washington about 1:20 o'clock this afternoon. Miss Roberts was treated at Harborview County Hospital. Police reported Miss Roberts were picked up by nearby pleasure craft. The boat caught fire about a half mile north of Leschi. The boat was owned by Miss Brooks' father, Anson Brooks. The Harbor Patrol tried to extinguish the fire, but the boat sank.

SUNNY; 82 TO 88
Weather Bureau forecast: Fair tonight and tomorrow. High tomorrow, 82 to 88; low tonight, 50 to 56. Variable winds with gusts to 18 miles an hour afternoons. High yesterday, 86; low overnight, 58. (Complete weather report, Page 46.)

YOU DO IT!
Figure Your Loan Here:
Total New Car Loan Needed . . . $
Low Cost of 'Do-It-Yourself' Car Loan:
Figure at $1.50 per $100 per year ÷ $
Total . . . $
Divide by Number of Months you expect loan to run . . . ÷ (mos.)
Your Monthly Payment* . . . $
Bring These Pencil Notes With You!
PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK OF WASHINGTON MEMBER FDIC