

FAREWELL TOUR: P.-T. A. leaders participating in a farewell tour of the Warren Avenue School read an inscription on a memorial plaque for one of the school's former principals. The tour was sponsored by the Seattle

Council of Parent-Teacher Associations. The school, which has about 370 pupils, will be razed at the end of the school year to make way for the Century 21 Exposition. Its pupils will be transferred to other schools.